Friday, March 31 | 2 Kings 6:8-17

Each and every person has been blessed by Jesus with spiritual gifts. Over the years I have identified one specific one that seems to have overpowered the others, planning. I am the type of person that more enjoys planning the trip than actually going on it. Making lists, organizational projects, planning and calendaring are all things I excel at. Being a working mother of two almost requires good organizational skills. The older I get and the more life experiences I encounter, the more self-aware I have become. I recently have noticed that the one area of my life that I could use some more planning is my spiritual life.

As Christians, we often don't take our spiritual warfare seriously. We act as though Satan poses no problem to us. Consequently, when faced with some form of spiritual warfare, like Elisha's attendant was, our response is consternation. There are so many temptations in this world, many times we choose to turn to the world for advice instead of Jesus. He has everything we need! Our world needs prayer more than anything. The story in 2 Kings 6:8-17 of how Satan is always looking for ways to attack the people of God as a whole; but especially His teachers of the word. Having time set aside each day to pray, to read God's word, and just be in His presence will prepare you to handle what life throws at you.

Prayer: Heavenly Father, help us to identify the spiritual gifts you have blessed us with and open our eyes to recognize the opportunities to use these gifts to glorify You. You are all knowing, You are powerful, You are loving. Thank You Lord for Your constant guidance and patience. We love You, we praise You. Amen.
