

HOW FAR CAN OUR FAITH TAKE US?

Tuesday, April 4 | Mark 10:46-52

Faith has the ability to restore us in many ways. There was once a blind man who was healed. He believed Jesus could restore what was broken in him and make it brand new. He chased after Jesus, never acknowledging his limitations and ultimately had an encounter with Christ that changed him forever. If we look at our own walk with Christ, how many barriers have we allowed to slow our pursuit of Him? How many times do we allow our heart to be so distracted that our feelings become the steering wheel of our decisions? It is so easy to focus on our own weaknesses and the weaknesses of others that we begin to function as if we are unaware of the restoration that God wants to bring to our life. If our faith was a race, how many hurdles do we put between us and Jesus that we are unaware of? What keeps us from being as determined as the blind man to chase after Jesus the way he did? He knew what area in his life that needed healing, and he knew without a doubt Jesus was the one that could deliver. Do you know what area in your life needs to experience healing? Do you have someone in your life that sees the man or woman God created you to be that can hold you accountable for your healing? Name the area in your life that needs to be experience restoration and chase relentlessly after Jesus until you are healed. Name the weakness, limitation, or thief that could distract you from having a transforming encounter with Christ. Be comforted that nothing can keep you from the grace and power of Jesus because he came for all of us.

Pray: Help me name the area in my life that needs to experience healing. Help me stay aware of where I am spiritually and where you are calling me to be. Give me the endurance to never settle for anything less than the purpose you have for my life.
